By signing below, I agree to the following with regards to the installation of satellite dish antenna on a roof that involves penetration of roofing materials, including, but not limited to shingles, roofing felt, plywood, and trusses. A roof mount is defined as a mounting device that is attached to the roof by drilling holes, and/ or lag bolts into the roof, thereby penetrating the roof, in order to secure a satellite dish antenna to the structure.

1. Customer (_____) understands and agrees that a roof mount type of installation is not a recommended installation. Customer further agrees that the installing technician has provided the customer with alternatives to this type of mount (either for a fee or without) and that the customer has chosen NOT to use one of the alternative methods of installation.
2. Customer understands that there will be NO WARRANTY on any type of roof penetrating mount. Customer understands that they may incur service fees for the servicing of any mount that is attached to the roof.
3. Customer understands that this type of mount has a high potential to cause leaks, and customer willingly accepts this risk. Customer understands that there is NO WARRANTY on any type of sealing device that we may elect or not elect to place on the mount. Customer agrees to accept all consequential damage (such as, but not limited to, water stains on sheetrock ceilings, wood rot, electrical system damage, insect infestations) that may occur as a result of this type of mount.
4. Customer understands that a professional roofer would be necessary to properly seal the roof mount dish antenna. Customer understands that the customer is responsible for ALL costs incurred as a result of hiring the roofing professional.

Customer further agrees to hold harmless and hereby releases That Pilot Tech, LLC, Jeff Mackey, Cumberland Satellite Associates, and all of their clients, associates, owners, partners, insurers, investors, contractors, and employees from any liability for any type of damages (physical, or personal) as a result of the roof mount. Customer also agrees that the roof mount will be provided AGAINST the recommendation of the installing technician.
